THE FINNISH MARKET REVIEW.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The money market continued quiet during November. The slight tension, which is usually brought about during this month by an increased demiand for credit and a reduction of deposits in the banks, again made itself falt this year. As exports usually fall off rapidly at this season of the year, while imports are still large, and as work in the fiorests is started and besides the communal income tax the income and property tax to the Sitate is also levied in the autumn, such a state of things is natural. The exceptionally early appearance of winter this year has clearly led to forest folling having been begun earlier than usual, a cincumstance liable to accelerate the increasing demand for credit.
The tendency in the position of the Joint Stock banks is typical for the time of year. Deposits decreased by 44.6 million marks, whereas the drop in aredits granted by the banks was only 19.8 million marks. The reduction in deposits was due to withdr'awals from current accounts and overdrafts, while, on the contrary, deposits and savings accounts record a slight advance. Re-discounts, fell off again by 2.1 million marks to only 11.6 millions as compared with 282.3 million marks a twelvemonth ago. At the same time the coash of the banks, considerably reduced during Octolber, increased again by more than 61 million marks.
In the position of the Joint Stock banks towards foreign countries the movement was in the opposite direction to what it had been in October. Then the net indebtedness was reduced iby no, less than 131.8 millition marks, but in November it grew again by 48.2 millions owing to the fioreign balances going down considerably, while the indebtedness fell only slightly. At the end of the monthh the net indebtedness of the banks to foreign countries was, however, no more than 157.2 million marks as against about 353 millions a year before and 725 millions two years earlier.

As regards the Bank of Finland it is chiefly to be noted that home credits were increased. This increase refers principally to bills discounted and advances on current account, whereas re-discounts showed a falling off. Since the bank rate was last lowered, the Bank of Finland has extended its lending and this was in reality on a larger scale than the figures indicate, but as some expport credits were repaid simultaneously, the rise in the home deposits of the Banik during Novemiber did not exceed 13.8 million marks. On the other hand a fairly sharp rise in the credits granted log the Bank during the first week in December has to be recorded, the total having risen by 41.0 million marks to 404.8 millions.

Among other ohanges in the position of the Bank of Finland it may be mentioned that the Bank increased its supply of foreign currency by 42.7 million marks, so that a fresh maximum of $1,308.6$ million marks was attained for the last day of the month. The Bank's foreign bills, too, rose sharply by 44.8 million marks, so that a final figure of 109.2 millions was reached as compared with only about 7 million marks a year before. On the other hand the current acoouints of the Bank of Findland showed an appreciable increase of 66.4 million marks for the Government and of 36.9 million marks for other depositiors. During the first week of December the Government raised its deposits further by 35.6 million marks thanks to the oollection of taxes oocurring at this time of the year, while the cash of the Joint Stook banks on current wacount decreased by more than 51 millions, partly owing to the same cause. The note resenve dropiped from its highest point at the end of October by 47 million marks to 864 millions.

The level of prices continued to fall during November, although only slightly. The wholesale price index was reduced 3 points to 1,118 and the cost of living index only 1 point to 1,227 . As the correspoading figures a year ago were 1,120 and 1,222 respectively, it is apparent that the value of the mark inside the country was altogether unchanged. Its foreign value expressed in dollars has remained absolutely unchanged since November 5th, 1924.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

As has proved the rule with few exceptions, the balance of trade for November was this year, too, umfavourable. While the value of imports amounted to 585.7 million marks and therefore rather exceeded the coorresponding figure for October, the value of exports dropped by about 117 millions to 490.1 million marks. The balance of trade thius showed a surplus of imports of 45.6 million marks. The falling off in exports was due mainly to reduced exports of timber, a natural consequence of exports having been heavier than usual during the earlier months of the year. With regard to the importation of individual classes of goods it may be stated that the figures for wheaten flour and grain of wheat as well as sugar have jumped up. This is probably in connection with the proposed - and subsequently adopted - higher rates of duty on these commodities from the beginning of 1926. Among expports the figures for exports of plywood atitract most attention, as these have reached a new highwater mark. For cellulose the highest monthly figures for 'this year were reached.
The balance of trade for the first eleven months of the year shows a surplus of exports amounting to 426.8 million marks as complared with only 163.7 millions last year. The value of imports. exceeded the value of last year's imports by about 420 million marks, whereas the increase in the value of exports amounted to abbout 680 million marks.

Sales of sawn timber have been of limited extent during the last faw weeks owing to the advanced season of the year. Up to the end of November about 987,000 standards had been shipped altogether as aglainst 931,000 standards last year. Sitocks are practically sold out and the total sales for this year may be estimated at slightly over 1 million standards. The early winter prevented shipment of some small parcels of timber.
About 80,000 . standards have been sold for delivery next year. Belgium and Holland are the principal buyers. The greatest interest has been shiown in planchettes and small timber. For $4^{\prime \prime}$ and $4 \frac{1}{2}$ " larger shippens have oibtained £ 12 to $£ 12.10 /$, smaller ones $10 /-$ less. For $7^{\prime \prime}$ pine battens the price has kept at about $£ 13$, for boards $10 /$ - higher. The market for products of the paper industry is satisfactory and considenable quantities, and in some cases the greater part, of next year's production have been placed.

THE LABOUR MARIKET.

The state of the laibour market was quiet. Unemployment has not assumed larger proportions than is usual at this time of year.

${ }^{1}$ ) Actual current accounts and home correspondents. - ${ }^{2}$ ) Deposit accounts and savings accounts. - ${ }^{8}$ ) The large deorease in deposits and loans commencing in November, 1924, is due to the fact that the new Industrial Mortgage Bank withdrew its deposits from the Joint Stock banks in order to pay out the loans granted by it, the receivers of such loans redeeming in turn their own liabilities to the Joint Stock banks. (Cf. Market Review in the Dec. No of the Bulletin).

1922 in $^{2}$ ）From the beginning of 1921 onwards a new official index has been drawn up differing from that published in the Bulletin for that the whole first half of 1914 forms the basis $(=100)$ for the same，and that the rise in tazation is also included．
The index is calculated by the Social－Statistical Department of the Central Statistical Office and is based on monthly reports from 21 different centres；it shows the rise in the cost of living for a workingman＇s family of normal size，the income of which amounted during the zears 1908－1909 to $1600-2000 \mathrm{Fmk}$ ，assuming that the average monthly consumption within the same remained unaitered．The index for total cost of living is the average based on weight of the different indices．

The index is worked out at the Central Statistical Office＇s Department for Economic Statistics．－In determining the bases of calculation for the index the combined value of the country＇s production and imports for 1913 are taken into account without deducting the value of exports．The total number of commodities included is 135，and the figures in brackets at the head of the columns indicate the number of commodities in the corresponding groups．－In working out the index figures the method known as sproportionate prices： is employed，$i$ ．e．the price of each commodity is taken in a percentage ratio to a corresp onding figure for the basic rericd and the aver－． age is then calculated on the basis of the resultant proportionate figures．The corresponding months in 1913 are taken as a basis．In the calculations geometrical averages are employed．No actual weighting of figures is undertaken；this is carried ont．however，indirectly with the aid of the list of commodities．Ot．the article in the January number 1924.

This table, prepared from the weekly reports of the Labour Exchange Department of the Ministry of Social Affairs, shows the number of nemployed registered in the books of the communal labour exchanges in the maforfty of towns and a very small part of the rural centres of population at the close of the week nearest to the month's end. As agricultural labourers and skilled artisans proper register, up to the present, only in a minority of cases at the communal labour exchanges, the table does not give a complete review of the number of unemployed, but is to be regarded more as symptomatic.

THE RE-INTRODUCTION OF GOLD CURRENCY IN FINLAND.

On December 10th the Diet adopted the Government's proposals for a new monetary law and new regulations for the Bank of Finland. The laws passed have the same main features as in the proposals of the Bank Supervisors to the Government, which in turn followed the so-called Gold Committee's report closely the contents of which have been given in this Bulletin (see No. 4, 1925). The resolution of the Diet implies that Finland now will once more have a gold standard. Thus the prolonged interregnum in the currency position in Finland, caused by the world war and its consequences, is at last over. After a period of great changes (see the diagram overleaf) the value of the Finnish mark has in reality already theen a stable one for two years, and since November 5th, 1924; the dollar has been quoted unchanged at a rate of 39: 70, but it can only be considered that a definite return to normal conditions and an effectuailly stable currency have been achiejved with the measure the Diet has now passed.

We give below a short review of the most important points in the new laws, drawing special attention to those in which they differ from the proposals described earlier.

THE UNIT OF CURRENCY AND THE ViALUE OF. THE MARK.

The Committee referred to proposed that the now unit of currency should be given the gold value which corresponds to the present value of the paper mark and that the unit of currency should continue to be designated a mark (markka) divided into 100 penni. Like the Bank Supervisors and the Government, the Diet has also approved of this proposal. Thus the value of the Finnish currency is neither raised nor lowered, but the mark is stabilised at the current rate of exchange for the dollar of 39: 70.

According to the new monetary law gold coin is to be struck of the value of 100 and 200 marks. The former will contain $3^{15} / 19$ grammes and the latter $7^{11} /_{10}$ grammes of fine gold. For the coins an alloy is to be used of nine parts of fine gold in weigh't to one part of copper. In this way of two kilogrammes of minted gold 475 cains of 100 marks value will be sitruck and of four kilogrammes of minted gold a like number of coins of 200 marks.

To give an exact idea of the value of the new unit of currenoy in companison with the unit of currency in other countries the following fresh gold parity for the Finnish mark is approximately arrived at. The gold value which the various coinage possesses according to the currency lawe of the respective countries, is used as a basis.

OIRCULATION OF MON:Y.

Although new gold coin is to be struck in accondance with the provisions of the new law, it. is not intended that gold coin should be in circulation to any great extent, which would be unnecessarily costly for a small country. There need be no difficulty in limiting the circulation of gold, as the Bank of Finland is entitled, according to its new regulations, to redeem its notes, besides in gold coin, also in gold ingots

In the above diagram the marked middie line indicates the monthly average dollar rate, while the line above it gives the munthly maxime and the line below it the monthly minima of the dollar rate.
or in cheques made out in foreign gold currency and payable on demand at the current rate of exchange. It should also be remembered that of late years gold coin has completely gone out of circulation and that even before the world war gold was only current to a small degree. The notes of the Bank of Finland as legal tender will therefore, as heretofore, be the most usual currency. No changes in the notes. at present current are required by the reform of the currency. Nor does the small change of a value of 1 mark, 50 penni and 25 penni in nickel and 10 and 5 penni in copper - undengo any change from the present.

POSITION OF THE BANK OF FIN:LAND.

The currency reform leads immediately to the change that the gold reserve of the Bank of Finland, which is at present entered in the books at a value of 43.3 million marks, will rise to a value of about 330 million marks. This makes it possible to increase the capital of the Bank and thereby strengthen its position.

According to the now regulations the capital of the Bank of Finland is to be raised to 500 million marks and in order further to strengthen the position it is provided for in addition that the reserve fund shall be increased to the same amount by means of employing the whole of the annual profits for this purpose until this has been done. Thereafter a third of the annual profit is to be transferred regularly to the reserve fund, so that the Bank should be in a position to meet the constantly rising demands made on it by the progress of business life.

In other respects no changes have been made in the position of the Bank of Finland. The Bank is to carry on its business, as hitherto, under the guaranty and control of the Diet, which is exercised by Bank Supervisors and auditors appointed by the Diet, while the immediate management of the Bank is carried on by the Board of Management.

THE NOTE ISSUE AND COVER.

Aracording to the Committee's proposals the same principles for the cover which had been adopted for more than half a century past in Finland and which are founded on the English system known as the contingent system, have been retained wiith certain modifications. Thus the motes issued must be covered by gold or by the undisputed bailances of the Bank with its toreign correspondents, and notes may be issued in excess thereof only up to a contingent fixed by law. That part of the note circulation which exceeds the Bank's gold reserve and foreign balances, must have a fiduciary cover, the character of which is precisely indicated in the regulations. The present contingent is $1,500 \mathrm{mil}-$ lion marks. As, however, the gold reserve of the Bank of Finland; as was pointed out, will be increased by the currency reform by close on 300 million marks, a corresponding reduction of the contingent was considered to be in order. The uncovered note contingen't is therefore fixed at not more than 1,200 million marks. In the fiduciary cover the important alteration has been introduced that Treasury bionds or shortterm loans may not, as in recent years, be included in it. According to the decistion of the Diet the Government is to redeem all its bonds in the possession of the Bank of Finland before the end of 1928 , by which means the position of the Bank will be further strengthened.

One' of the most important departures, from the point of view of principle, from the proposals of the Committee is that, according to the regulations adopted by the Diet, the President has no right whatever to allow the fixed note contingent to be exceeded. Should cincumstances unavoidably demand such an increase, the Diet must be summoned to come to a decision on the point.

OTHER MEASURES FOR OARRYING OUT THE CURRENCY REFORM.

The return to a gold standard will not, as already stated, lead to any change in the present value of the Finnish mark. On the contrary, it may safely be said that the currency reform will in no way affect that side of currency conditions with whioh the general public comes into contact. The latter will therefore not feel what is happening. To further accentuate this fact and in order to fix by law the conditions actually existing in this respect, the Diet has at the same time adopted a law, in which it is expressly stippulated that the notes of the Bank of Finland, irrespective of when they were issued, shall be redeemed at the value which the currency of Finland posserses in accordance with the new monetary law, and that in fulfilling liabilities incurred in Finnish marks a mark shall also have the value just mentioned.

The other regulations which are included in the monetary law and the regulations for the Bank of Finland will be seen in detail in the following appendices in which the laws referred to are given in an exact translation.

THE FINNISH BUDGET FOR 1926.

On December 12th the Diet passed the Budget for 1926. This Budget is given below in a condensed form for want of space, revenue and expenditure being inserted for the main groups and sections, but the subsections and groups of the latter only being specified in a few cases. All the revenue and expenditure in the Budget are gross figures. 'To start with, however, several general points should be indicated.

The Budget is invariably drawn up in such a manner that the total revenue and total expenditure bailance each other exaotly. In carrying out the Budget, of course, the actual revenue and expenditure differ more or less from the estimates. Thus, during recent years, when the revenue has regularly exceeded the calculations to a greater extent than the expenditure, an appreciable cash balance has arisen. If now the revenue does not suffice to cover the expenditure in making up the Budget, a transfer from the cash balance is included on the revenue side, which makes the Budget balance. This happened, for instance, in 1924, though it subsequently proved to have been unnecessary, seeing that the actual revenue exceeded the expenditure, and it was done again in the Budgets for 1925 and 1926 .

In addition it may naturally prove necessary to take up a State loan in order to make the Budget balance.

This solution, which has often been adopted in the State finances of Finland, should, however, not be interpreted as evidence of an actual deficit in the Finnish State Budget. It should ibe noted that the Government annually devotes considerable sums to purposes of various kinds which are an increase of capital investment. The State carries on very extensive business undertakings. This embraces, in the first place, railways, forestry, the Post and Telegraph Offices, canals, manufacture of alcoholic commodities, sulphuric acid and superphosphate production, waterpower etc. For the establishment of these undertakings appreciable sums of money were required and continue to be required. For this object means produced by taxation have partly been employed, but it would surely be wrong financial policy to burden the taxpayers with the whole weight of the costs necessary for these purposes. The Government has therefore always, with a few years' interval, taken up State loans to meet such expenditure. The interest and amortisation of these loans is then included among the ordinary State expenses without the repayment of the loans in the Budget calling forth so much attention as the taking up of a new loan.

The Budget is divided into two parts, one for ordinary revenue and expenditure, the other for extraordinary. The former embraces the regular, annually recurring revenue or expenditure, while those items which it is intended to include in the Budget only once for all, are referred to the extraordinary Budget. An important part of the latter is consequently made up of expenditure for capital investment, such as construction of new railways and hospitals, extension of railway rolling stock, expenditure on State manufacturing concerns and so forth.

It must further be pointed out that in the course of the year, after the Budget has been passed, the Diet may, if necessary, make supplementary grants booth for such purposes as are included in the Budget at too low a figure, and for entirely new objects whioh have arisen later. As such supplementary grants are, of course, small in comparison with the totals of the Budgets, the Budget adopted for the year gives in broad outlines a correct idea of the State finances for the coming year.

ITEMS.

The Diet. On December 12th the Diet wound up its autumn session for which it had assembled on October 20th. Among the resolutions of the Diet mention should, above all, be made of the passing of the currency law and the regulations of the Bank of Finland, which imply a return to a gold standard, and of the Budget for 1926. Both these questions are dealt with in the present issue of the Bulletin. In a later issue we will deal with the other results of the Diet's work, so far as they refer to economic questions.

Cabinet Crisis. On Decetmbler 10ith the Government tendered its resignation to the President of the Republic, as the Diet had not passed as sufficiently large a sum for building a navy for coastal defence as the Giovernment considered the irreducible minimum. The outgoing Government, in which Professor Antti Tulenheimo was Premier, entered into office on March 31st, 1925, and consisted of representatives of the Finnish Unionists an the Agrarian party. The new Ministry has not yet been formed as we go to press.

Rates of duty for 1926. As the new Customs tariff, which has been in counse of preparation for a long time, is not yet ready, the Diet has decided that the tariff for 1921 shall be valid during 1926 with certain alterations. As in 1923 and 1924, the Diet has resolved to raise or lower certain clauses. The alterations are due plartly to adjust the proportion of rates of duty on certain axticles, ohiefly between raw materials and the corresponding finished articles, or for other reasons connected with industry, partly also for fiscal reasons.

The most importan't ohanges made are as follows: -

New railway. On December 1st new line was opened for temporary traffic, joining the western and central main lines, viz., the lisalmi -Ylivieska line. The new line, which was surveyed already in 1917, has cost about 150 million marks, of which 16 millions were for extending the stations at Iisalmi and Ylivieska, and has a length of 154.1 km . Deducting this amount, the cost of construction consequently amounted to about 850,000 marks per kilometre of line, including the cost of a large number of. bridges.

The importance of the new line lies in the fact that it shortens the distance between the Kajana district and the nearest seaport, which is of great significance for these parts rich in forests. There are also several important centres of traffic along the new line, such as Pyhäsalmi and Haapajärvi from which appreciable supplies of timber are expected to be transported.

tes are usually paid: by the larger banks $61 / 2-$ $63 \%$ and on current acoount $5 \%$, by other Joint Stock banks $61 / 2-7 \frac{1}{2} \%$ and on current account $51 / 2-61 / 2 \%$, by savings banks $7-8 \%$ and by the Post Office Savings Bank $7 \%$.

Finnish timber exports to America. As reported earlier (see No. 6, 1925, of the Bulletin) some trial parcels of sawn timber were shipped during the autumn to the United States. After these had reached the buyers, reports on their quality have been received and point to the consignees being very pleased. It may therefore be assumed that Finnish timber expports to the United States are likely to bear good fruit.

Amalgamation of timber exporters' associations. After negotiartions had proceedied for some time it was decided on December 15th that the Finnish Timber Union, Suomen Puuliitto, should give up its work from the beginning of 1926 and its members join the Finnish Sawmill Owners' Association, Finska Sågsverksägareföreningen. The latter, which has just celebrated the 30th anniversary of its inception, will then represent an annual production which is estimated at 800,000 standards.
