THE FINNISH MARKET REVIEW.

THE MONEY MARKET.

The money market was calm during March. It cannot be said that there was any great easing of the position, but in comparison with the usual stringency at this time of the year one can say that there was an easier tone. It is claar that the money shortage has already had the result of curbing enterprise, while at the same time the consequences of last year's poor harvest are apparent, as expected, in weak savings activity. As deposits are consequently small, the banks are not able to satisfy the credit requirements without difficulty, although the latter are not as great as at the same time last year.

The credits of the Joint Stock banks increased in March by 144.1 million marks, an amount that slightly exceeds the increase in credits in 1927, but did not equal even the half of the record figure of 294.1 millions in 1928. Deposits recorded an appreciable rise of 163.2 million marks which does not, indeed, equal the corresponding figure for 1928, but on the other hand exceeds the amount of deposits for March, 1927. B. this means there was a slight easing amounting to 19.1 million marks, to which, however, no great importance can be attached, as the total difference between the credits and deposits of the banks at the end of March amounted to $2,156.5$ million marks. It is worth noting, however, as indicating the tendency of the market. The reduced stringency is also seen in the circumstance that the borrowing by the Joint Stock banks from the Bank of Finland fell off slightly.

The position of the Joint Stock banks to other countries was affected chiefly by the demand for foreign currency which is as a rule considerable at this season. The banks had to draw again on their foreign balances and increased their indebtedness, so that the net foreign indebtedness rose by 51.3 million marks. The net indebtedness thus amounted to 385.5 million marks compared with 136.0 millions a year earlier.

The Bank of Finland was in rather a stronger position at the end of March than a month before. Thanks to the drop in re-discounted bills of 26.9 million marks, the total credits fell off by 16.0 millions. Simultaneously the reserve of foreign currener, which is usually reduced to some extent at this time of the year, grew by T.9 million marks. The note circulation was increased pretty considerably, as is commonly the case during this month, while the Government's balances on current account were reduced hearily. The note reserve was increased thereby by 36.2 million marks and consequently reached the figure of 316.5 millions.

The first week in April brought about a slightly greater stringency in the position of the Bank of Finland. Credits - both direct credits and re-discounts - increased and the reserve of foreign currency was reduced. In spite of the notes in circulation also falling off after the end of the month the note reserve dropped again to 292.3 million marks.

The level of prices is steady.. The cost of liv-ing index shows a drop of 3 points to 1,229 , while on the other hand the new wholesale price index, calculated on the basis of the average price for 1926, returned, after a slight rise in 1927, to 100 last January and has not changed since.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

The figures for foreign trade were influenced greatly by the exceptionally severe ice conditions in March. The value of imports was 349.4 million marks compared with 650.3 and 452.3 millions during the same month. in 1928 and 1927. Exports showed equally low figures; their value only amounted to 1.92 .9 million marks as against 280.5 and 287.2 millions in the two preceding years. The reduction was, however, greater in the case of imports than of exports. This is also seen in the fact that the surplus of imports amounted to 156.5 million marks, whereas it had been $\mathbf{3 6 9 . 8}$ and 215.7 millions in the two preceding years.

During the first quarter of this year goods were imported to a total value of $1,187.7$ million marks, while the value of imports for the corresponding months of 1928 and 1927 was $1,690.3$ and $1,210.9$ million marks respectively. The value of exports for the first quarter of this year was 686.8 million marks compared with 743.8 and 729.2 millions in 1928 and 1927. The surplus of imports for these months amounted to 500.9 million marks this year as against no less than 946.5 millions last year and 481.7 millions in 1927. We find, therefore, that the balance of trade has returned to approximately the same figures as in 1927, when foreign trade was comparatively normal, while it differs appreciably from the figures for 1928, which gave the first indication of the final large surplus of imports for that year.
An examination into the question of how the total figures for foreign trade appear, when divided among the various classes of goods, gives rather a meagre result. It is not yet possible to decide, to what extent the changes, especially as it is a case of a reduetion, are due to the interruption of trade as a consequence of the ice conditions, and to what extent the change in the market tendency has influenced the imports and exports of particular commodities. Among the few classes of goods that show a larger turnover, the exports of butter and cheese may be mentioned.

On the timber market there was considerable liveliness which fell off, however, as Easter approached. Sales of sawn timber in March are estimated at 80,000 standards. By the end of March the total quantity sold is estimated at 600,000 stds compared with 540,000 stds a year before. According to the country of purchase the quantities sold were distributed as follows:

As regards prices, they are practically unchanged on the Continent. In Great Britain; however, importers have been granted a rebate of $5 /-$ to $10 /-$ in cases in which the assortment was unfavourable for the buyer.

THE LABOUR MARKET.

The labour market is not as good as at the same time in 1928, but nevertheless satisfactory. Winter unemployment has been reduced to a considerable degree. - The dockers' strike whicli lasted nominally since the beginning of last June, although the work was actually carried on without interruption, has now been settled formally, too. On the initiative of the Minister for Social Affairs both the employers and the workmen have agreed to a proposal of mediation, according to which the men withdraw their demand for a collective agreement, the present higher wages will remain in force during the next shipping season and the strikers will be re-engaged as vacancies occur.

The import- and export-indices have been calculated by the Statistical Dept. of the Board of Customs in the following manner: the quantities of imports and, respectively, exports for the current year have been multiplied by the average price for the class of goods in question in 1918, after which the import (or export) value for the current gear has been calculated in percentage of the sum thus obtained for purposes of comparison.

The goods chosen for the setting-up of a total-Index bave been divided, according to their use, Into the groups: foodstuffs, clothing, agricultural requirements and other goods. The three last-named have been further divided, according to their purpose, into raw materials, machinery and industrial products.

This import-price index is lower than the wholesale price index because the import-price index is not influenced by the customs duties.
27. - EXPORT-PRICE INDEX.

Besides the total index the table contains indices for only a few of the most important exports
See in addition remarks under Table No. 26.

${ }^{1}$ ) From the beginning of 1921 onwards a new official index has been drawn up differing from that pubished in the Bulletin for 1922 in that the whole first haif of 1914 forms the basis ( -100 ) for the same, and that the rise in taxation is also included.

The index is calculated by the Statistical Bureas of the Ministry of Soeial Atfairs and is based on monthly reports from 21 different centres; it shows the rise in the cost of living for a workingman's family of normal dize, the income of which amounted during the years $1908-1909$ to $1600-2000$ Fmk, assuming that the average monthly consumption within the same remained unaltered. The index for total cost of living is the average based on weight of the different indices.

There is no direct weighing of the data regarding prices, but indirect weighing has been carried out by each ciass of goods being repressented by the number of commodities which corresponds to the calculated importance of the class in the wholesale trade. The averages are arithmetical averages.

This table, prepared from the weekly reports of the Labour fxechange Department of the Ministry of Social Affairs, shows the number of memployed registered in the books of the communal labour exchanges in the majority of towns and a very small part of the rural centres of population at the close of the week nearest to the month's end. As agricultural labourers and skilled artisans proper register, up to the present, only in a minority of cases at the communal labour exchanges, the table does not give a complete review of the number of unemployed, but is to be regarded more as symptomatic.

THE FINNISH JOINT STOCK BANKS IN 1928.

BYA. E. TUDEER, PH. d.Statistiolan to the bank of finland.

NOMBER AND SIZE OF THE BANKS.

The number of commercial banks in 1928 was 18 or one less than before, a.small bank having been absorbed by a larger one at the end of 1927. Towards the end of 1928 a new bank was founded, Etelä-Pohjanmaan Pankki Osakeyhtiö, which started operations at the beginning of 1929. A circumstance of more importance is that the former undefined plans for an amalgamation of three medium-sized banks, Länsi-Suomen Osake-Pankki, Tampereen Osake-Pankki and Maakuntain Keskus-Pankki Oy., took definite shape before the end of the year, so that the amalgamation will come off in June, 1929.

In the course of 1928 the number of bank of. fices was increased by 49 , so that it amounted to 604 at the end of that year. Of these, 225 are situated in towns and 379 in the country. A considerable portion of these offices are insignificant agencies. As the Bank of Finland has 14 bank offices and 2 agencies, the total number of offices was 620 at the end of 1928 . To each office there were, therefore, on an average 5,800 inhabitants.

The business of the banks during the early part of the year under review showed a great expansion with increased deposits and credits. When the money market showed signs of stringency early in the summer, a change set in. Deposits reached their highest point in June, but fell off later, while credits grew up to October before a slight drop occurred. The development of banking business is seen in broad lines in the following figures.

|  | Total turnover. Mill. mks. | Balance Sheet total Mill. mks. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 1924 | 405,388.7 | 7,657.5 |
| 1925 | 415,013.1 | 7,478.8 |
| 1926 | 460,269.7 | 8,247.1 |
| 1927 | 540,874.8 | 9,541.8 |
| 19.28 | 605,444.7 | 10,900.5 |

The increase in banking business was thus $11.9 \%$ in proportion to the total turnover and 14.2 \% in proportion to the total of the balance sheets. In lboth cases the increase was slightly less than in the previous year.

Most of the Joint Stock banks are very small. If the banks are divided according to the size of their total turnover, the following table results.

| Extent of turnover. |  |  | Number of banks |  |  |
| ---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Over 1927. | 190,000 | mill. | mks. | $\ldots$. | 2 |

If the banks are divided according to the totals of their balance sheets, the following table for 1928 is arrived at.

|  | Balance Sheet total. |  |  | Number of banks. | Balance SL Mill. mks. | total. $\%$ |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |

| 100- | 200 | " | " | - 5 | 733.7 | 6.7 |
| Under | 100 | " | " | - 3 | 170.9 | 1.6 |

As in previous years, the smaller banks showed a comparatively greater growth than the larger ones, for the latter were in a less favourableposition in competing for deposits than the former which paid higher rates of interest than the larger banks according to a previous agreement. The agreement having expired in November, the larger bank raised their rates on deposits.

The most important items in the above balance sheets are dealt with below.

OWN FUNDS.

The increased banking business demanded, of course, that the banks should strengthen their position iby increasing their own funds. In 1927 twelve banks had decided to raise their capital and the payment of sulbscriptions for several issues of new shares still went on in 1928. In addition it was decided to issue new shares of three banks, representing an aggregate increase of capital amounting to 32 million marks. The reserve funds received an addition of 13.1 millions at the same time. The changed state of the money market resulted in no further issues of shares being made during the latter part of the year. As usual, the banks' funds obtained an increase through the transfers from annual profits resolved on by the annual meetings of shareholders. As these are usually held in February or March such changes only appear as a rule in the balance sheets for the latter month. In accordance with previous reviews we therefore give a table of the banks' funds at the date last mentioned and the changes from the end of March to the end of the following March.

|  | $\begin{aligned} & 31 \text { Mch. } \\ & \text { 1928. } \\ & \text { Mill. mks. } \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & 30 \mathrm{Mch} . \\ & 1929 ; \end{aligned}$ Mill miks | $\begin{aligned} & \text { 1926. } \\ & \text { Mill. miks. } \end{aligned}$ | Movement.  1927. 1928.  Mill. mks. | Tot | 1,588.7 | 1,699.5 | 106.1 | +392.8 +110.8 |

The growth of the banks' own funds was consequently considerably smaller than in 1927. In percentage the growth was only $7.0 \%$ compared with 32.8 \% for the previous year. In any case, however, it can be said that the position of the banks has grown stronger. The banks' own funds at the end of March, 1929, were equivalent to $23.6 \%$ of all home deposits, whereas the corresponding figure a year before was $21.2 \%$ and two years before $18.5 \%$.
Besides these funds of their own the banks possess smaller sums which are set aside for special purposes. At the end of March they had unemployed profits to an amount of 37.6 million marks. The pensions funds should also be mentioned, these amounting to 48.4 million marks.

HOME DEPOSITS.

The home deposits of the Joint Stock banks (which include a comparatively insignificant amount of long-term deposits in Finnish marks by foreign depositors) amounted in the years 1927-1928 to the following figures.

The deposits of the banks did not by a long way display the same great increase as in previous years. If the monthly figures are examined, it will be noticed that the movement during the two halves of the year was altogether different. This is seen most clearly from the following figures.

|  | Deposits and Savings accounts. Increase | Current accounts and home corre- Total spondents. deposits. $(+)$ or reduction ( - ). |  |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | Mill. mks. | Mill. mks. | Mill. mks. |

| 1927 | + 471.1 | +124.0 | + 595.1 |
| 1 July-31 Dec., 1928 | $\bigcirc 33.2$ | -394.1 | - 427.3 |
| ", 1927 | + 167.0 | +118.1 | +285.1 |

During the earlier part of 1928, the increase in the deposits of the banks was consequently ruite normal amounting even to a record figure. During the latter half of the year, when the increase is much smaller as a rule, deposits were reduced by over 30 millions, while current accounts and home correspondents' accounts showed a $\cdot$ drop of almost 400 millions; is it possible for the change in the market to be clearer? The rehanges in the banks' short-term deposits were affected greatly thy the temporary deposits of the Government in March, which were withdrawn again in August.

In regard to the changes for the whole year, it will be found that both current accounts and home correspondents' accounts were reduced, while on the contrary deposits and Savings accounts increased more or less normally. The latter accounts represent the actual deposits of the public's savings. The increase in such funds during the last few years was as follows:

|  | Mmil. mis. | \% |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| 1924 | 245.5 | 7.1 |
| 1925 | 472.4 | 12.8 |
| 1926 | 480.1 | 11.5 |
| 1927 | 638.1 | 13.7 |
| 1928 | 556.6 | 10.5 |

Although this form of deposits did not reach the same level as in the record year 1927, the increase was nevertheless larger in absolute figures than in previous years and also satisfactory in the percentage figures.

HOME LOANS.

The home loans of the Joint Stock banks are illustrated in the following table.

Credits were increased last year by no less than $17.3 \%$ as compared with $14.5 \%$ and $9.0 \%$ in the two preceding years. This record increase was not counterbalanced by any means by the growth of deposits, as is seen from the above. The difference between the credits and deposits of the banks, which amounted to $1,136.3$ million marks at the end of December, 1927, had risen to $2,144.9$ millions a year later. The increase in this difference was consequently $1,008.6 \mathrm{mill}$ lion marks as against only 147.1 millions for 1927. Such an increase was explained, of course, in part by the growth of the banks' own funds, but the greater part was a result of the growing shortage of money. In order to finance the great increase in credits the banks resorted to a great degree to the help of the Bank of Finland. Rediscounted bills at the Bank of Finland were quite insignificant during the first half of the year; they fell off from 55.2 million marks at the beginning of the year to only 2.2 million marks at the beginning of May, but then began to rise with gathering speed and reached their highest point at the end of December, when rediscounted bills amounted to 676.8 million marks. The total increase in re-discounts in the course of 1928 was therefore 621.6 million marks.

POSITION TOWARDS FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

In the position of the banks towards foreign countries the money shortage is also apparent. As the considerable surplus of imports made large demands on the supply of foreign currency, the banks were forced to draw on their foreign balances and at the same time to increase their borrowing abroad. By this means the development was interrupted which had marked the foreign position of the banks during the last few years. The development is shown in the following figures.

| End of year. | Credit balances. Mill. mks. | Indebtedness.  Mill. mks | Net balances ( + ) or indebtedness ( - ). Mill. mks. | Movement in net indeltted ness. Mill. mks. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |

| 1923 | 92.1 | 810.2 | -718.1 | -181.4 |
| 1924 | 129.1 | 451.5 | - 322.4 | -395.7 |
| 1925 | 140.9 | 334.5 | -193.6 | -128.8 |
| 1926 | 270.9 | 321.9 | - 51.0 | $\rightarrow 142.6$ |
| 1927 | 366.5 | 359.4 | + 7.1 | - 58.1 |
| 1928 | 255.6 | 529.1 | - 273.5 | +280.6 |

It will be seen that the net foreign indebtedness of the banks is nevertheless comparatively small by comparison with the position only a few years ago.

THE YEAR'S RESULTS.

Last year was a fairly good one for all the banks, seeing that all except one were able to show a larger profit than for the year before. The combined net profits amounted to 206.9 million marks compared with 177.7 millions for 1927 and 161.2 millions for 1926. In spite of this, amounts had been written off that were approximately double the sums written off in 1927. The total amounts written off represented-41.7 million marks as against 21.1 millions for the previous year. An appreciable part of these sums was composed of depreciation on premises and furniture accounts. The sums written off on account of credits granted amounted to 28.0 million marks against only 12.6 millions for the year before, a fact which may be connected with the change in the market position which might, result in losses for the banks in the near future.

As the banks had considerable unemployed profits brought forward from the year before, the meetings of shareholders had altogether 235.5 million marks to dispose of. This amount was disposed of in the way shown in the table below; for the sake of comparison the corresponding figures for 1927 are also given.

|  | 1027. Mill. mks. | $\begin{aligned} & 1928 . \\ & \text { Mill mks. } \end{aligned}$ |

| Distributed to shareholders | 124.3 | 156.4 |
| Distributed to depositors | 0.5 | 0.5 |

| Various public purposes | 2.5 | 2.8 |
| Gratuities | 0.9 | 1.0 |
| Left on Profit and Loss account | 28.5 | 37.9 |

It should be noted that the majority of the banks include directors' allowances in their expenditure, so that the small sums above only refer to such allowances to the members of the boards of some of the banks. The large increase in the net profits was employed entirely to raise the dividends. This was partly due to the fact that, as capital had been raised, larger sums were necessary now for financing the same percentage of dividend as before. Partly the competition between the lbanks resulted in some of them raising their dividend. Altogether six banks raised their dividend by $1 \%$ and two by $1 / 2 \%$, while one bank that had not paid any dividend at all in the previous years, distributed $10 \%$. On the other hand one bank paid no dividend owing to the proposed amalgamation.

The following table gives a review of the dividends paid by the banks during the last few years.

SUMMARY.

The progess of the kanks proceeded in general in the same direction of consolidation as in the preceding years. They can look back upon the economic results of the past year with satisfaction. It is also significant that the expenditure of the banks, although it rose absolutely, decreased in proportion to the turnover, i. e. it moved in the same healthy direction as it had done as a rule in previous years. In regard to the size of the balance sheets the banks have now at last -- taking into consideration the changes in the purchasing power of the currency - reached the same level at which they had stood already before the Great War. The turnover, on the other hand, is more than double as large; which shows that their activities have become considerably intensified. In this respect the large banks have progressed much further than the small ones. In other respects, too, the former lead the way in developing the banking system towards a level which is the goal of Joint. Stock banks in other countries.

ITEMS.

Dissolution of the Diet. On April 19th the President of the Republic dissolved the Diet in accordance with the right he is entitled to exercise by law. The reason for this step was the following. The Government had drawn up a bill for improving the remuneration of Government officials all along the line and had submitted the bill to the Diet, declaring that it would not be responsible for the regular course of administration unless it were passed. As the majority in the Diet nevertheless defeated the bill and did not grant the necessary funds in any other form. the President of the Republic decided to dissolve the Diet and order new elections. According to the Constitution the new elections are to be held on July lst and 2nd this year.

The Bank of Finland. The proposal, referred to in our last issue, with regard to raising the Bank of Finland's own funds has now been passed by the Diet. In consequence clauses 4 and 30 of the Banks' Regulations dated December 21st, 1925, have been re-drafted as follows:

Clause 4.

The funds of the Bank consist of: the capital which shall be increased to one thousand million marks and maintained at that amount; and the reserve fund, which shall be increased as provided for later in these regulations, and in which may not be included the value of the real estate and furniture of the Bank, nor the value of shares belonging to the Bank.

Clause 30.

Until the capital and reserve fund of the Bank have severally risen to one thousand million marks, at least one half of the annual profit of the Bank shall be employed to increase the same. Thereafter, at least one third of the annual profit shall be transferred to the reserve fund. Such part of the profit as is not utilised for increasing the funds of the Bank may, according to the decision of the Diet, be employed for public purposes.

Should the business of the Bank result in a loss, the latter shall be covered out of the undisposed profits of the Bank. Should these not prove sufficient for the purpose, the deficiency shall be covered out of the reserve fund. Should the reserve fund have been reduced in this manner, the profit of succeeding years shall be utilised in the first instance to bring up the fund to its former amount.

Co-operative central organisations in Finland during 1928. The total turnover of the central co-operative organisations in 1928 and the two preceding years was as follows:

|  | $\begin{aligned} & 1928 \\ & \text { Mill. } \\ & \text { miks. } \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & 1927 . \\ & \text { Mill. } \end{aligned}$ | $\begin{aligned} & 1926 \\ & \text { Mill. } \\ & \text { mks. } \end{aligned}$ |

| Co-operative Wholesale Association (O. T. K.) ......... | 813.5 | 690.5 | 658.5 |
| Central Co-operative Butter |  |  |  |

| „Hankkija.' Central Agricultural Supply Co-operative |  |  |  |
| Society | 377.5 . | 310 | 278.1 |

Altogether these four central co-operative organisations had a turnover amounting to 2,853.6 million marks compared with $2,505.8$ millions in 1927 and $2,263.2$ millions in 1926. The increase was therefore $13.9 \%$ as against $10.7 \%$ for the previous year. The net profits amounted in all to 41.3 million marks against 33.1 millions for 1927. After disposing of the profits these central organisations had 214.7 million marks alt together of their own funds at their disposal.

The Central Bank for the Co-operative Credit Societies granted-credits to the Co-operative Oredit Soc̣ieties during the last three years to the following amounts: in 1928804.9 million marks, in 1927 685.0 millions, and in 1926492.0 miltions.

Combination of producers of mechanical woodpulp. The close co-operation which has existed of late between the producers of mechanical woodpulp in Sweden, Norway and Finland was given a definite form at a meeting held recently in Stockholm by répresentatives of this industry by means of an agreement unanimously adopted and signed by the representatives. This is of a farreaching nature and includes a permanent adjustment on the part of the producers of the relation of production to demand and a uniform selling policy. The agreement which converts the previous frequently cutthroat competition into co-operation, is not intended -- this was urged very strongly - to raise prices to an unreasonable level, but has as its object to create a state of stability in the mechanical woodpulp market which has long been desired by both buyers and sellers.

Employers in the plywood industry organise themselves. After preliminary negotiations an association was formed recently of the Finnish employers in the plywood industry. It is interded that the new organisation should, as an independent section, join the Finnish Woodworking Industries' Employers' Association, which already embraces the sawmill, paper, cellulose and mechanical woodpulp industries.

Ice conditions and shipping. The second half of March was mostly mild, so that the average temperature for the whole month was $1-2^{\circ} \mathrm{C}$. above normal. On the other hand the first part of April was uncommonly cold owing to the strong formation of ice at sea last winter. Shipping, which had been at a standstill in the tirst half of March, became livelier again at Hanko (Hangö). Traffic could be maintained without difficulty thanks to the Finnish fleet of icebreakers. In the first days of April the „Jääkarhu" opened the navigation at Helsinki (Helsingfors), at which port shipping has been lively since. In the middle of the month the opening of navigation was begun at other ports, at first at Rauma (Raumo) and Mäntyluoto, later at Kotka and other ports.

Wholesale price index. Since the Central Statistical Office has adopted a new method of calculating the wholesale price index for Finland, the necessary changes have been made in table 35 of the Bulletin, starting with the present issue. In a later issue we will give a review of the principles adopted in calculating the new index. At present we need only mention that the prices in 1926 have been chosen as a basis.
