Dear Sirs:

We have taken the liberty today of issuing a letter of introduction addressed to your esteemed institution on behalf of Mr. Leo W. Bowmall. He is one of the principals of the firm of Nolan, Bowmall & Co. Inc., 250 Park Avenue, New York, a recently established organization which will engage in the import and export of wood pulp and paper. They are good customers of ours, and we have agreed to extend them six figure facilities for the financing of their current operations. We have a high regard for the management and are anxious to assist them in building up their business in which field they have had extensive experience.

Any advice and assistance you may be able to render Mr. Bowmall will be greatly appreciated.

Always ready to reciprocate, and thanking you in advance for your kind consideration,

Very truly yours,

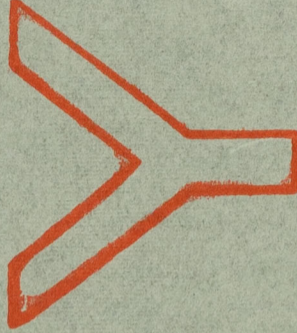

Vice President.
